Father Czapiewski, continued from page 4

Back in the States he was also very active in the Polish American community.

In the 1950s he became a chaplain of the Polish-American Scouting Organization in Chicago, devoting countless hours to the religious and educational work with the youth.

He retired in 1987, after 36 years of unselfish and dedicated service for the African Missions. Since then he has been at Saint Ladislaus Church in Hamtramck, Michigan, where he continues to serve the Polish American community.

Bl. John (Jan) Beyzym, a Polish Jesuit priest, was born in what is now Ukraine, at Beyzymy Wielkie on 15 May 1850, and died on 2 October 1912, in Fianarantsoa, Madagascar, the apostle of the lepers of Madagascar. Fr Beyzym was the first priest to live among the victims of Hansen's disease in the entire history of the mission of Madagascar.*

Ed note: We hear that even now, at the age of 93, Fr. Cazpiewiski can be seen out walking to Church and to the library.

Villages in Poland, from Slownik Geograficzny Polskiego

Translated by Renata Stachowicz

Czapiewice Teutonic Knights' village in Chojnice District. Parish and railway station are in Brusy. One half mile from the highway between Chojnice and Koscierski. Includes 3133 morgs, 41 households, 334 Catholics and 6 Evangelicans.

Czarnowo Teutonic Knights' village in the Chojnice District. Niechwarz stream starts near by, and then turns right and runs to Czarna stream. At the time when the Pomerania Princes ruled this area the citizens were under Polish Law. In 1377, Winryk von Kinprode (Teutonic Grand Master) edited a new privilege under the Chelminski Law. The area of Czarnowo includes 2567 morgs, 23 houses, citizens are all Catholic in the parish of Brusy.

Liniewo (German, Liniewo, or Lenevo, Leniwe) Teutonic Knights' holding and peasant village, in Koscierski District, on the lake, on the highway between Koscierski and Zblewo. Includes Liniewo Male and Rogozno, area 5115 morgs, 5 farms, 303 Catholics, 139 Evangelicans, 29 homes. There is a school and inn in the village. Parish is Garczyn, post-office in Nowa Karczma. Two miles distant from Koscierzyna. As a Knight's possession, Liniewo contain 783.04 hectares of the area. In 1883, Quender from Berlin bought it from Blumhoff, and paid 360000 DMs. In 1224, Swietopelk II (Eds note: Pomeranian Prince) stated and confirmed that his father Mestwin, promised as a gift from the village to the Norbertian nuns, 5 miar/ urns/ of honey per year. There will be an Iron Rail Station built, according to Koscierski- Przyczolkowski project.

Male Liniewo (German, Kl. Liniewo; Eds note: today Liniewko), manor house (folwark) for the Knights' village of Liniewo, district of Koscierski, on the main highway between Koscierski and Zblewo